MEMPHIS APPEAL.

POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing from Washington, makes the following statements, which we reproduce without undertaking to say how far they are correct:

Sufficient time has now elapsed since the Chicago Convention to speak of the effect of the nominations made there and the political prospect as viewed from this central point.

The ticket has fallen flat and produced no impression whatever. There are various reasons for this fact, but the main one is the identification of General Grant with the Radical wing of the party, and his full acceptance of all their policy, including impeachment, which he advocated openly and even violently, as is well known here and as General Logan and Mr. Judd, of Illinois, emphatically declared at Chicago.

General Grant went over to the Radicals and abandoned his Conservative tendencies last October, at which time Washburne came to Washington to arrange the programme, and General Rawlings was sent West to make a speech revealing his chief's conversion to the doctrines of Thad. Stevens and the "Mountain."

Ever since that time he has been losing ground, and now is even weaker than the party, because it is admitted that he brings no outside strength and excites no inferior enthusiasm, while old and straightlaced Republicans will bolt his nomination as an abandonment of principle.

It is absurd to suppose that Colfax adds a particle of influence to the concern. Any ward politician would be equally strong, and he is of the dimensions of a ward politician, only raised in the country. There are tens of thousands of the same class and genius scattered over the Union, many of whom are vastly superior to the individual whose smirking mediocrity occupies the chair once filled by Henry Clay.

The Radicals relied upon the success of impeachment as their last and only hope of carrying the Presidential election. That defeated, they substantially admit the game to be lost. Their plan was for Stanton to organize the whole South into a compact Radical column, to declare martial law in Kentucky and Maryland under some fabricated pretext, in order to exclude their votes, and then by coercion and corruption to secure enough of the East and West to count themselves into power. This scheme required the aid of Wade to make it success. With Johnson in the White House it falls to the ground, and with it all the hopes of the revolutionists.

Disguise it as they may, the Wade men are intensely indignant, and will do little to help the ticket. Their chief has given no such indorsement as is pretended by the Radical organs. On the contrary, he swears like "our army in Flanders," and says that he was sold out. It is notorious that the Southern delegates, who were pledged to him, were bought by the New York jobbers at various rates, and many of them as cheap as the payment of their hotel bills. This open bargain and sale is now urged here as a reason against the admission of those States by many extremists, and if their votes were not counted upon in November they would not be allowed to come in at all.

It is now conceded by leading and competent Radicals that Pennsylvania is lost by a large majority, first, because of the failure of impeachment; second, because the Convention did not expressly and by name excommunicate the seven Senators who secured acquittal, and, thirdly, because of the insulting and intentional omission of any reference to protection or "home industry." That State is now demanding an increase of the tariff, and the Radical politicians have written here that without it there is no use of attempting a canvass. But as Congress has no idea of touching the tariff, finance or any other large question at this session, Pennsylvania is gone "hook and line."

The Democrats and Conservatives will probably nominate Hancock and Hendricks, at New York, on the fourth of July. They are both strong, able and free from objections which have been urged, justly or unjustly, against other candidates. It is imperatively necessary to choose the best men and those most likely to challenge popular favor and confidence.

The Herald itself says:

Impeachment is broken down completely, and the failure of this process is to the Radicals as great a defeat as the ninth Thermidor and the fall of Robespierre was to the Jacobins, or as great a defeat as the Roundheads met with when Cromwell turned the canting rascals out of doors. Our revolution has run also, as the French Revolution did, into the hands of men of whom Robespierre is the type. All revolutions have the same fate. The great men die as Mirabeau did, or are driven from public life by party intolerance as Lafayette was, and then the reptiles—the Robespierres—become the prominent figures. Vain, cowardly, cruel, contemptible in every intellectual aspect, these men rule for the hour by reason of their very vices, and then they also fall, and their fall is a sign that the nation is recovering its balance and learning its true position. So, with Lincoln murdered, with Chase pushed from his moral leadership of the party he made, with all the original heads of the great national movement out of the way, Butler, Sumner and Stevens had their vile hour and gloried in their political reign of terror. But the ninth Thermidor came soon, and their heads are in the sawdust. All the elements they led are bitterly beaten, and in their defeat closes their three years' struggle to manage the Republican party. This is a party rupture that is irreparable; for the wise, moderate and respectable portion can of course never descend to these wretches, nor will they intermit their efforts against the victors. Satan, stretched on the burning marl in hell, cursed in a mild and apathetic style by comparison with the spirit in which they are even now venting their rage and imagining means to repair their fortunes.

And again:

At a caucus of the Republican Senators at Washington on Tuesday morning last, called for the purpose of selecting a Secretary of the Senate in the place of Mr. Forney, whose resignation is before that body, a hint was given to the Republican members present who voted for Andrew Johnson's acquittal which admits of but one interpretation. A large number of the impeachers refused to proceed to the business of the caucus while any of the recreant seven were present, and so an adjournment to Monday next was moved and carried. In other words, the thirty-five Republican Senators who voted "guilty" on the House indictment against Johnson refuse to recognize as members of the Republican church the seven Republicans who voted "not guilty." These seven men, therefore, may consider themselves excommunicated, turned adrift,

In the change and rifting and drifting of parties thus going on how consistently ridiculous seems the position of the Democrats! Within their ranks or within their reach they have not a man who can be counted upon against Grant, even in Grant's present weak position. What must they do, then? They must go to Chase. He is the only man in the country who will be worth a button against the Republican nominee. Let the Democrats have the moral courage to look upon things as they are, to look upon the fight opening as a new one, to ignore past relations of men to parties, and, accepting so much as has been honestly done in reconstruction, go forward for the assertion of the sufficiency of the Constitution with Chase as their leader. Let them do this and they may have a

[redacted] they choose in the second place, even though he come from the smallest pigeon hole in Tammany. Chase has enough brains to cover all, and in his record there is the moral dignity that would make the ticket acceptable to the highest standard of American thought. Radicalism counts for Grant's election much upon the Southern States; but Chase could carry those States against Grant. This is true of no other man, and the election may turn on this point. If the Democratic Convention nominates Chase it will stamp itself a bold and wise body; but if it does not, the defeat of its party is absolutely certain.

We do not think that any man's opinion as to the nominations to be made by the Democratic Convention, is of much value. We certainly do not undertake even to guess. The most zealous efforts are being made to secure the Presidential nomination for Pendleton, of Ohio; but it has not always been found to be an advantage in the end to be named as a candidate long before the meeting of the nominating convention. It unites all the other aspirants and their friends in an organized opposition to the one person thus prominently brought forward, and is quite likely to result in the selection of some one originally not half so strong, and who has, perhaps, not been spoken of at all.

No one denies that Mr. Pendleton, on the score of intellect and ability, is fit to be President; but we do not know that he has proven himself, in any arena, to be very greatly the superior of many other Northern Democrats. He won reputation in Congress; but not the reputation of one facile princeps, and who distances all his competitors. We do not think that he proved himself more than the peer of many who served with him in Congress, or even the equal of Alexander H. Stephens and Henry Winter Davis. We do not think that his greatness is so generally acknowledged, or himself so great a favourite with the Democratic masses, that he will be very obstinately adhered to, if it should be found expedient to select another candidate. His reputation was more local than national, until his name was connected with the Presidency. We should therefore not be at all surprised if he were to be put aside at last, and not receive the nomination.

We are inclined to think that the conviction is growing stronger, and more widely prevails than it did some weeks ago, that if any person is run whose record as a war Democrat is not entirely unimpeachable, and especially if his nomination should be secured by the votes of delegates from the Southern States who were once Confederates, Grant will be elected. The large mass of the conservative Republicans will vote for the bitterest Radical, in preference to an anti-war Democrat, or any one tinctured with Copperheadism, or guilty of having sympathized with the South. The Radical faction does not expect to elect Grant by means of its own strength, but by his. We should not be surprised if, at last, Hancock was nominated, in which case the votes of the moderate Republicans and of the friends of the seven proscribed Senators, would be cast against Grant.

Grant will receive a very small part, we imagine, of the Hebrew vote. Colfax was a violent Know-Nothing, and this will hardly commend him to citizens of foreign birth. A war Democrat, a General in whose record there is no flaw, will run Grant closely, if he does not win the race; but such a man only can do it.

Charles Francis Adams was somewhat spoken of, not long ago; but he is hardly thought of now. The Herald, which until lately had been, without being seconded by a single journal, urging the Democrats to nominate Admiral Farragut, now advises them to take Chief Justice CHASE; and stranger things than that have happened in this world.

All Conservative men and Constitutional Republicans in the South will vote for any candidates who may be nominated by the Democratic Convention; and will, we do not doubt, upon consultation, be willing that the Delegates from the Northern States shall determine who those candidates shall be. It is quite true that the consequences of defeat are to fall most heavily upon us; for the only remaining hope of the salvation of the people of the South from utter and complete ruin is in the success of the Democratic party in November. The principles contended for will be the same, no matter who may be the candidates; and the only question for the Northern Delegates ought to be, who can draw off from the support of the Radical candidates the largest number of Conservative Republican votes?

It is to be hoped that for once a Convention will not be managed by wire-workers and managers whose trade it is to exploiter party and the country for their own ends; but that the sole purpose of all will be to select the men with whom success can most certainly be achieved. Thank God, the body of the people here and elsewhere are getting weary of the eternal obtrusion of the selfish interests of men, and cliques and 'rings' into political movements and controversies. The "cut-and-dried" mode of doing up the work of Conventions is becoming obsolete, or at least not eminently satisfactory and successful.

We should be glad to see General HANCOCK elected President, because he has never had anything to do with rings and cliques, and if elected he will not be the instrument of any set or cabal of political cormorants, whose principal purpose is to grab the spoils in the moment of victory, and fill the air with their shriekings if all their demands are not satisfied. The scramble for office after an election, whatever the dimensions of the election may have been, is simply disgusting, especially in men who pretend to be governed solely by devotion to the public interests.

If the work of the National Convention is not wisely and prudently done, if wire-workers control it, and the old party lines which the war and its results ought to have effaced are attempted to be drawn again, the issue of the mismanaged affair will a defeat.

A ticket nominated by Southern votes turning the scale will give Grant every Republican or war vote, and inevitably be defeated: and the less those who were prominent during the war on the Southern side, and are still odious to the people of the North, have to do with the Convention, the better they will serve the country, and the less injure the South.

BROAD JOKES.

There is nothing in any farce that has ever been written, so rich in its grotesque pompousness of pretension and ridiculous absurdity, as the mouthing words with which the pretended votes of some of the Southern States were cast in the Convention of whites and negroes held at Chicago. They would bring down the house, if uttered by the clown of a circus or the witty man of a company of negro minstrels. For example:

Georgia cast her vote through Gov. Brown, who said: The Republicans of Georgia, many of whom were the original secessionists, recognized the wisdom of the maxim, "Enemies in war, in peace friends," and heartily desiring to speed the restoration of the Union, harmony, peace and good government, instruct me, through their representatives here, to cast eighteen votes for Gen. Grant.

We did not know that the phrase "enemies in war, in peace friends," used in the Declaration of Independence, had become a "maxim."

South Carolina—The birthplace and home of Calhoun and the doctrine of State Rights, first to withdraw herself from the Union—directs her representatives, sent here by a majority of 43,470, returning, as we do, to the counsels of those who desired only to preserve the Union, arm in arm and heart to heart with Massachusetts, to give her twelve votes for Grant.

That is of the style called "highfalutin." The representatives of the negroes of South Carolina were perhaps sent to the Convention by a majority of 43,470 negroes: and these appropriately appear "arm in arm and heart to heart with Massachusetts," Puritan and Blackleg in close and amorous embrace.

Tennessee, being one of the Southern States that was forced into rebellion, being the first to reconstruct, and to be admitted into the Union, and to-day being in the enjoyment of the most liberal republican government in the United States, casts twenty votes for Grant, and with the solemn pledge never again to present the name for President or Vice President of such a traitor as A. Johnson, casts twelve votes for Grant.

Texas, the Empire State of the South, containing 275,000 square miles, and capable of sustaining twenty millions of people, casts eight votes for Grant.

Virginia—Rising from the grave that General Grant dug for her in the Appomattox in 1865, comes up here with twenty votes and enlists under his banner. They propose next November to move on the enemy's works.

Tennessee has a very liberal republican government, when it disfranchises sixty or eighty thousand white men, and subjects them to laws enacted by the representatives of negroes. Texas has a majority of twenty thousand Democrats within its borders. But the richest sentiment is that of Virginia. "Rising from the grave that General Grant dug for her in the Appomattox," she would reject the nomination of Grant and Colfax by scores of thousands of votes, if the voice of her people could be heard, and if Hunnicutt and Botts and Hawkhurst had not deprived her sons of the right to vote. Those who cast the pretended votes of these States ought at least to have had grace and shame enough to do so in silence.

Negro Congressman for the State at Large.

The Maryville Republican of the 20th, is in favor of a colored man for Representative in Congress for the State at large, and recommends Thos. J. White, of Columbia. The U. L. A. Council of Blount, adopted the following:

Resolved, That Maryville Council, U. L. A., pledge ourselves to use our influence for the nomination of a colored man for Congress for the State at large.

The Republican expresses its views as follows, and the white Radicals who are quarrelling about colored participation in memorials to the dead, may contemplate its truths at their earliest leisure:

Viewing this subject from a legal standpoint, we are compelled to acknowledge the superior claims of a colored man to represent Tennessee at large. It is by his vote that we are accorded the proud privilege of sending an additional member to Congress. It is by his vote, influence and loyalty that we are to-day basking in the sunshine of liberty, occupying high official positions, and free from the bitter persecution of our enemies. An argument is used to the effect that colored men are to-day eternally indebted to the loyal Legislature and the party for his elevation to political equality. We offer another one to the effect that were it not for the colored man, Republicanism would be an idle dream, the enemies of liberty in power, and all friends of Republicanism politically bound hand and foot.

OF TENNESSEE.
Subject only to the decision of the National Democratic Conservative Convention.]

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

By direction of the Democratic Central Committee, a State Convention is called, to assemble at the city of Nashville, on the 9th day of June, 1868, for the purpose of appointing delegates to attend the National Democratic Convention, which will meet at the city of New York, on the 4th day of July next.

The people of the different counties throughout the State, are requested to hold County Conventions and appoint delegates to represent them in said State Convention.

All persons opposed to the policy of the Radical party are cordially invited to participate.

Democratic and Conservative newspapers of the State are requested to publish this call.

By order of the Central Committee,
THOS. R. JENNINGS, Chm'n.
L. D. WALKER, Sec'y.

AN INFAMOUS LAW.

We were utterly unaware until yesterday of the existence of a Statute of Tennessee, "for the benefit of discharged Union soldiers," enacted on the 6th of June, 1865, which provides, that "all Union soldiers who have served either as State or Federal soldiers, and have been honorably discharged from the service, and all citizens who have always been loyal, shall be permitted to carry all necessary side-arms for their personal protection and defence."

Tae general Statutes of the State make it a misdemeanour, punishable by indictment, to carry weapons, either concealed or openly.

The Statute of 1865 undertakes to repeal this Statute as to all loyal white men and as to every negro, in the State; so that, by the operation of the two Statutes, all white men who fought for or sympathized with the South shall be disarmed and made helpless and defenceless, while all the negroes that swarm in the cities, and every reckless Union vagabond are armed against them.

The Judge of the Municipal Court has said to the Grand Jury, in regard to this act of 1865:

I believe it to be the duty of this Court to charge you, gentlemen, that you should give no heed to this act, unless you know of your own knowledge that the person who comes within the provisions of this act carries concealed weapons for the purpose of defending and protecting himself against a second individual, unless he has reason to believe that he is in personal danger of bodily harm from threatened assaults of some particular individual or individuals. And with this single exception, you will indict every person that carries concealed weapons, and if you indict any one who comes within the provisions of this act, let him show the fact upon his final trial, or bring the matter to the notice of the Court.

Centuries ago, Demosthenes, in his first oration against Aristogeiton, said, "The design and object of laws is to ascertain what is just, honorable and expedient; and, when that is discovered, it is proclaimed as a general Ordinance, equal and impartial to all."

Blackstone, defining law to be "a rule of civil conduct prescribed by the supreme power in a State," says that it is a rule; not a transient sudden order from a superior, to or concerning a particular person; "but something permanent, uniform and universal."

Domat says: "It is also another consequence of laws being the rules of the universal order of society, that no law is made to serve only for one person, or for one case, or for one singular and particular fact; but they provide in general for what may happen, and their dispositions respect all the persons, and all the cases to which they extend. And therefore the wills of princes, which are limited to particular persons, and to singular facts, such as a person, a gift, an exemption, and others of the like nature, are favours, concessions, privileges, but not laws."

In Wally's Heirs v. Kennedy, 2 Yerger 555, the Supreme Court of Tennessee said: "This Court upon two occasions, and upon the most mature consideration, has declared that the clause 'law of the land' means a general public law, equally binding upon every member of the community. The rights of every individual must stand or fall by the same rule or law, that governs every other member of the body politic or land, under similar circumstances." . . . "Were it otherwise, odious individuals or corporate bodies would be governed by one law, the mass of the community and those who made the law, by another."

The same decision was made in State Bank vs. Cooper et al., 2 Yerg. 599.

In Holden vs. James, 11 Mass. 396, it was held that the Legislature could not suspend the operation of a general law, in favour of an individual. The Court said that this was "one of the most odious and oppressive prerogatives of the ancient Kings of England." For that reason, it must be confessed, it is all the more appropriate that it should be exercised by a Tennessee Legislature which receives its instructions from a madman like William G. Brownlow.

The Massachusetts Court, which, whatever the vagaries of the politicians of that State, has always expounded the laws ably and honestly, and vindicated with singular consistency the principles of that English liberty which the Massachusetts Bay men inherited, said: "It is manifestly contrary to the just principles of civil liberty and natural justice, and to the spirit of our Constitution and laws, that any one citizen should enjoy privileges and advantages, which are denied to all others under like circumstances; or that any one should be subjected to loses, damages, suits or actions, from which all others under like circumstances are exempted." "It was never supposed," the Court said, "that the privilege of the writ of Habeas Corpus, for example, could be suspended as to certain individuals by name, and left to be enjoyed by all the other citizens."

The general law of Tennessee makes it a crime to carry weapons, openly or concealed; and the statute of 1865 authorizes all negroes and 'loyal' white men to commit that crime. Such a law is null and void, but it is also much more. It is an indecent, shameful and villainous enactment, that disgraces the State whose statute-books it defiles and contaminates. It is so, because contrary to the Constitution. It is infinitely more so, because it was intended by it to put the lives of white men unarmed and defenceless, at the mercy of negroes, and to invite and encourage and offer immunity for the commission of murder.

What would be thought of a statute, however fit it might be to be enacted by the Radical Legislature of Tennessee, which should provide that all negroes and loyal white men might commit forgery with impunity, or that, for them, adultery should be no crime? Such a statute would be no more certain a guage of the moral sense of that Legislature than the statute as to weapons.

The Judge of the Municipal Court deserves credit for the charge which he delivered to the Grand Jury in respect to this attempted exemption of certain persons from the operation of a general law. We respectfully submit for his consideration that he ought to decide the exempting statute unconstitutional and void; as "contrary to the just principles of civil liberty and natural justice, and to the spirit of our constitutions and laws."

If he does not clearly see his way to do that, it is certainly his duty to seek for some construction of the statute that will not dishonour beyond redemption the Legislature that enacted it.

It permits discharged soldiers and loyal men "to carry all necessary side arms for their protection and defence." Pistols and knives are not side arms. The sword only is so. The statute does not in words authorize any weapon to be carried concealed. It only allows the negro and loyal white man to wear side arms, that is to wear swords at their sides. To wear side arms concealed is a contradiction in terms. The Legislature meant, no doubt, to authorize the negroes and loyalists to wear knives and pistols concealed; but they have not expressed that intention—that is their misfortune.

AN EDITOR FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

The citizens of Panola county, Miss., will hold a convention on Monday to nominate a candidate for the Legislature, being entitled to two, and one having been already nominated. Understanding that our young friend John M. Hogshead, Esq., editor of the Panola Star, a paper we always open with interest, is willing to undergo the toil and tribulation, for the sake of the honors, and that he is not obnoxious to the exclusiveness of the Constitution, having only served gallantly as a high private during the war, we cannot withhold the expression of a hope that he may be selected. He is a gentleman of ability, a thorough Democrat, and will prove a faithful and capable representative. Besides, he is an editor and esprit de corps more than inclines us to wish him success.

GRANT PERE LOQUITUR.

The venerable sire of the Radical candidate for the Presidency has been making a speech at Mineral Point, Wis., where he was on the 26th of last month. Whether he has commenced the canvass thus early, with the expectation of getting around the circle, before November, we are not prepared to say. It is evident his tongue is not so tired as the veritable "Lysse's," and will wag at both ends, as will appear from the following correspondence of the Cincinnati Enquirer. It is dated May 27th:

On last evening's train Gen. Grant's father arrived here at this city, and when it was known, "and such things are generally known in a very short time," the leading Radicals of the city came in, and were introduced to him, and they were making a great fuss over him. At last the conversation turned upon politics, and Gen. Grant's father said: "Gentlemen, there never was such a nomination made as the one the Radicals have made in nominating my son as President, and Colfax is a very good man for the position of Vice-President," He said he was glad that Ben Wade was not put in as Vice, for he had not a bit of sense, and talked too much, and would have been the means of the Radical ticket losing at least a hundred thousand votes in Ohio—don't believe in letting negroes vote; says it is too much like trying to make them equal to the whites, and said the only reason he thought they ought to have been freed for, was finally and politically, not because they were not in their place, for he thought the only place they were fit were as slaves, for they are not able to take care of themselves, and he told a story to illustrate the fact. Said the only way they would work and only way to treat them was by using the whip freely. He thinks the people will be ashamed of giving the negro his freedom. He says Gen. Palmer made a fool of himself at the Convention in his speech. He don't think much of Palmer or the platform. He said he advised them to leave nigger out of the platform, for he told them if they did not they would be beat; and said one of the most disgusting things he ever witnessed was the nigger delegates at the Convention at Chicago. If he had his way he would have kicked them out. He said never—no, never—would he be willing for niggers to vote; he thinks the more they are educated the worse it is for them, and says he don't believe in educating them. He don't believe in them voting in the South or any place else. They have no civil rights at all; this country was made to be ruled by white men and not niggers; thinks the Freedmen's Bureau the greatest swindle the country ever saw. He said he had seen the time when he had nothing to eat, and the United States did not feed him, but he had to work or starve. And as long as they indulged the nigger in idleness the longer they would have to; and said if he had ten cents and it would educate a nigger, he would throw it in the fire before they should have it; says he thinks it will beat the General, and will be glad if he is defeated.

The Rads kept putting in once in a while, but the old gentleman would tell them he knew what he was talking about it. He says they trotted him out on the front of the platform at the Convention to show him off, and he knew how matters were. Before he was done talking every one of the Rads had left, and the old gentleman was talking to Democrats.

The fact is, what is bred in the bone must come out of the flesh, and in these plain sayings of the father, the opinions, underlying all others, of the son, may be understood, just as the "horse talk" of the lad, as dilated upon in the biography, has kept pace with the maturing years of Grant, the reticent, as contradistinguished from Grant, the loquacious.

—Among the mercantile antecedents of the new Senator McDonald, of Arkansas, a sharp transaction a few years ago is published, in which the Senator purchased a large quantity of corn of the Government authorities at eight cents per bushel, and sold it back to them for eight dollars per bushel.

CONDENSED DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Brownsville, June Term, 1868.

BY H. CLAY KING, ESQ.

No. 5.—Palmer vs. Waggener. From Memphis Law Court.

This was an action against the defendant, as administrator, for compensation for legal professional services rendered the intestate in the prosecution of an injunction suit in Arkansas. Plea, statute of limitations. Held: That the statute does not begin to run against the attorney until the termination of the services under the terms of the employment. Judgment affirmed.

No. 6.—Bartlett vs. Wilkerson and others, Sureties of Smith, Sheriff. From Shelby Circuit—three cases.

Facts: Smith, Sheriff, failed to return a summons from the Shelby Circuit Court. He also failed to return original attachment issued by a Justice of the Peace, returnable to the Circuit Court. He also failed to return an ancillary attachment issued by a Justice of the Peace, returnable to the Circuit. There was a motion in each case against the Sheriff for the penalty of $125 for failure to return the process; judgments had against the Sheriff, and sci. fa. had against the sureties. Judgments were rendered against the sureties on return of the sci. fa. Executions issued thereon against the sureties, who filed their petitions in the Circuit Court, asking the executions to be quashed, and the judgments to be vacated and set aside because void on their face. The judgments against the Sheriff failed to show on their face that the writs had come to the Sheriff's hands more than twenty days before their return day. Held: 1. That the judgments are void for failure to recite on their face that the process had come to the hands of the Sheriff more than twenty days before the return day. 2. If judgments are void on their face, this Court will not, on reversal, remand to the inferior Court to correct, or for new trial. 3. If the judgment against the Sheriff is void, no valid judgment can be rendered against his sureties on sci. fa., even if that proceeding was proper. 4. If a judgment is void, execution issued on it may be quashed on motion, petition, or certiorari. 5. The Court rendering a void judgment has no power, at a subsequent term, to vacate its own judgment on mere motion or petition, because the judgment is void on its face. The executions are quashed and the judgments permitted to stand, so far as this proceeding is concerned.

ARKANSAS.

The Searcy Record says: We learn frem Mr. S. B. Barnett that the locust deposits a poisonous egg upon mulberries, which, if eaten, proves fatal. On Sunday last, as two little children of Mr. Lessenberry, in the slashes, were partaking of this fruit, on which were eggs of the locust, suddenly were overcome with a sickness of the stomach, such as poison will produce. Fortunately they began to vomit soon, which saved their lives. But for this, they would have had to suffer a painful death.

—The Little Rock Gazette of the 3d says: We are pleased to note the arrival of Col. J. M. Meigs, chief engineer, and B. D. Williams, Esq., land agent of the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad, who are now stopping at the Anthony House.

—We have received the first number of the White River Journal, commenced at Devall's Bluff by Bancroft & Holt. It is Radical, and has mounted a black rooster. It is a regular consolidationist, declaring: "We shall advocate, maintain and defend the doctrine of the perpetual unity of the States." Its life will depend on that of the Radical party, which we incline to think will be brief.

—The death of W. W. Harvie, of Richmond, Va., is announced at Pine Bluff.

—The old Augusta Chronicle has been bought by parties in Clarendon, and will soon be started at that place in the interest of the Radical party.

—The Madison Pioneer of the 30th ult. says: "Quite a large specimen of this "varmint" was killed last week by Mr. Charles D. Sullivan, about three miles from town. This lucky shot will save the life of a good many pigs for the neighbors. They are rather a curiosity in this county now." The same paper says: "Crops are looking finely for the season, and our farmers have as fair a prospect as they ever had. Corn and cotton are both looking well now. Wheat looks splendid—a little rust is reported on the leaf, but it is thought that it is too late to injure it much. Early vegetables are plentiful."

—We could dispense with some of it, without a sigh. The Madison Pioneer of the 30th ult. thus describes an Arkansas Eden: "Musquitoes, buffalo gnats, black gnats, and a few gallinippers are around, and lazy folks catch bites in plenty. This is enough, but the fleas are plenty, and do their full share of biting, as is the nature of the brute.' Of course, this country is delightful at the present time."

—The Fort Smith Herald of the 30th ult. says: On Sunday last, a row took place somewhere on Ozark street, among some negroes. By some means a soldier of the 19th Infantry got into the muss with Albert Marchand, a mulatto boy, who was born and raised here, and shot him in the thigh, from which he died on Tuesday last. It is said the boy was drunk and knocked the soldier down and beat him, and the soldier then got his gun and shot him.

—An attempt was made to get up a Grant ratification meeting at Cairo, and the fire-bells were rung to call out a crowd, but drums, bonfires and fire-bells did not have the desired effect. The people stayed at home, and the ratification meeting-time came and went without demonstration. Grant was once in command of the post of Cairo, and pretty much of a post he was considered.

—The ship Carl arrived at the New York Quarantine on the 29th ult., with 496 steerage passengers — twenty-five children having died of measles during the passage of fifty-three days from Bremen. The ship was represented as in a very filthy condition, and was to be thoroughly fumigated.

—A Baptist deacon, and heretofore respectable citizen of Kingston, Mass., named Samuel M. Andrews, has been arrested for the murder of Cornelius Holmes.

All seemed pleased with the interview. The embassy then returned to the State Department, where they were entertained with a collation.

The President to-day nominated Martin McMahon, of New York, as Minister Resident at Paraguay, vice Washburne, resigned. Ex-Congressman John S. Wilson, of Norfolk, Va., is to be District Attorney, in the place of L. H. Chandler, whose commission will expire on the 30th of June.

The State Department is in receipt of intelligence that Dennis O'Connor, the last imprisoned American citizen in Ireland, has been released, and is now on his way to the United States.

Rear Admiral Thomas J. Craven has been detached from command of the Navy Yard, at Merz Island, California, and ordered to the command of the North Pacific squadron, and commander James Olden has been ordered to the command of that Navy Yard.

The Secretary of the Treasury, by direction of the President, has sent full instructions to New Orleans for the detention of the iron clads Oersta and Catawba, it being stated that they intended to leave there professedly on an experimental trip, but really for Peru. It has been ascertained that though the original purchase price was $755,000, the vessels had been sold by Swirt & Co. to the Peruvian Government for $3,000,000, three-fourths of which had actuall been paid.

The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: G. Worthing, of Nevada, as Minister Resident at the Argentine republic, vice Asbott, deceased; Alfred Allen, of Kentucky, as Consul at Foo Choo, China; Commander Thomas Turner, as Rear Admiral, and Capt. S. S. Worden, as Commander.

The receipts from customs for the week ending May 30th were $2,944,767.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Williams introduced a bill concerning law claims in Arkansas, which was referred.

Sherman called up the bill relating to United States notes and the substitute of coin, providing that any contract hereinafter made specifically payable in coin shall be legalized and valid, and may be enforced according to its terms, notwithstanding anything in the bill in relation to United States notes.

The Arkansas bill came up from the House, and the Senate insisted on its amendment, and ordered a committee of conference.

Trumbull called up the House bill to admit North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Georgia and Alabama. He explained that in the substitute the committee had stricken out Alabama, and by a mistake Florida was inserted, contrary to the opinion of a majority of the committee, though he personally had favored inserting it. He stated the number of votes cast for and against the Constitution in the States enumerated, and in the matter of Florida, read a communication from the General of the army, inclosing a telegram from General Meade, dated Atlanta, June 3, 1868, which states that the majority in favor of the Constitution in Florida is 5050. Trumbull then proceeded to offer the substitute of the committee, which has already been published.

Wilson moved to amend by inserting Alabama.

After a long debate, and without action on the bill, the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Lawrence, of Ohio, presented a resolution of the Ohio Legislature, relative to a survey of the Miami and Erie canal, for the purpose of enlarging it to the capacity of a ship canal, which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Blaine, from the Conference committee on the army appropriation bill, made a report, which was agreed to.

The House then proceeded to the business of the morning hour, the same being the consideration of reports of a private character, including a joint resolution to advance Capt. Thos. N. Stevens twenty-one numbers on the list of captains in the navy, for services during the war, which was passed, as was also one for the restoration of Capt. James S. Armstrong, from the retired list to the active list of the navy.

Jones introduced a resolution to erect a United States courtroom, postoffice, etc, in Convington, Ky., which was referred.

Perham, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, reported a bill relating to pensions. The first section construes the existing pension laws so as to give the precedence to relatives of deceased persons having neither widow nor child, in the following order: First, mothers; second, fathers; third, orphans, brothers and sisters, who shall be pensioned jointly, if there be more than one. The other sections apply to matters of detail. After some discussion and an explanation the bill passed.

The House then went into a Committee of the Whole on the tax bill. The sixth section, which gives the appointment of all revenue officers to the Commissioner, being under consideration, a large number of amendments were offered, and after considerable discussion were all rejected or withdrawn, and the question was taken on Garfield's motion to strike out the section, which was carried by 64 to 45. The seventh section was also stricken out, and the eighth considered. It regulates the duties of internal revenue storekeepers. Several amendments of detail were offered by Schenck and agreed to.

Logan moved to strike out the whole section because it provided for bonded warehouses, and if the whisky tax was reduced, to be collected at the source, the only way in which the tax could be collected—then there would be no use of having bonded warehouses.

Schenck opposed and Logan supported the proposition.

The House then took a recess.

In evening session Mr. Judd withdrew his motion to strike out the eighth section, with the understanding that the section be reserved for amendment in view of future action on the whisky tax. No amendment will be made to the following sections. The fourteenth section was, on motion of Mr. Schenck, struck out. Several amendments of details were made to the sixteenth section.

Several amendments were offered to the sixteenth section, reducing the salaries of assessors, but were rejected.

Sections seventeen to twenty-one, inclusive, were passed over without amendment.

Jenckes moved a verbal amendment to the twenty-second section, when the Committee rose, and the Speaker presented a message from the President in regard to the trial of American citizens in Great Britain, and the House adjourned.

THE ORATORIO TO-MORROW NIGHT. It is well to remind our readers of the grand oratorio and lecture at St. Peter's to-morrow (Sunday) night. Tickets are only fifty cents, and everybody should avail themselves of this chance to hear such music as it is rarely given to Memphians to listen to.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of meeting, yesterday, our confrere John M. Hogshead, Esq., editor of the Panola Star. He is in the city on business, and will remain a few days. The Star is an excellent paper, and has a wide circulation, and our merchants cannot do better than give him a call. Any communications for him left at the APPEAL office will be given him.

FIRE ON LINDEN STREET.—About three o'clock yesterday morning there was an alarm of fire, which was caused by the burning of a small frame house on Linden street, some distance out. The building was the property of John Martin, and was occupied by a negro woman named Annie Moore. The building was insured to its full value.

ATTEMPTED HIGHWAY ROBBERY. As Stephen Steele and Flanery Johnson, colored peddlers, were coming to town yesterday morning, just before day, about three miles from the city on the Hernando road, they were halted by three men who demanded their mule. Stephen Steele drew a shot gun and fired at them, when they turned and fled. It was too dark to tell their complexion.

PLEASANT AFFAIR TO MORROW. Charlie Broom announces that there will be a grand excursion to Hatchie lake fishing landing, on the steamer Nettie Jones, to-morrow. She will leave the foot of Poplar street several times during the day, carrying parties to the landing, and make a return trip by moonlight. Parties desiring to spend a pleasant Sunday will do well to embrace Charlie's programme of amusement for the day.

THE VARIETIES.—Charlie Broom has perfectly resplendent in his new bills, the array of talent and beauty advertised on them being quite overpowering. The Gardner sisters, Florence sisters, Mlle Henrietta, and Miss Minnie Gray, all new comers, have quite run the old favorites out of the head of the habitues of the establishment, even the charming De Vere, who had so many admirers, being forgotten in the enthusiasm over them.

AN ITEM OF NEWS.—While it is not our habit to put into our local columns everything that happens in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Arkansas, the following extract from a private letter may prove interesting to our readers. It is dated Okolona, Miss., June 3d, 1868:

* * * * * *

"There was public speaking here today, and great excitement was raised among the people. A row commenced, when one negro was shot three times and mortally wounded; another negro was killed. Both were killed by other negroes. Yours truly, * * *."

Out of such vast variety who can fail to find what he wants?

RALEIGH SPRINGS.

The Bran Dance and Ball on Thursday.

A large concourse assembled at the beautiful grounds around the springs at Raleigh on Thursday to enjoy and old-fashioned country barbecue and bran dance. The crowd was composed in the early portion of the day mostly of citizens from the country round about, with their wives and daughters; but as the day advanced, and the trains began to arrive from Memphis, troops of belles and beaux from the city began to arrive, and the fun grew fast and furious. The barbecue is described as one of the finest things of the sort that has been gotten up since the good old days before the war.

Most of the people from the region round about, having commenced so early in the day, when evening came, were tired out, and went home, but the fresher arrivals adjourned as darkness came on to the Courthouse, and there passed away the night in one round of dances and jollity. To particularize amid the many beautiful and elegant ladies who graced the festivities, would seem almost invidious, but at the risk of being thought prejudiced we will venture to mention some of those who struck us as particularly brilliant and fascinating: Misses Mattie and Nannie Ward, Mollie Fuller, Bettie McGhee, Mit Lewis, Emma Coleman, Hattie Cannon, Mat King, Maggie Wiltshire, Jeannie Yerger, Mollie Avery, Ollie Reeves, Lou Temple, Lilie King, Pink McLeary, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Fuller. Some of the guests remained the entire night, but many took advantage of the glorious moonlight and drove or rode home in the cool of the "wee sma' hours ayant the twal."

MURDER OF CAPT. DWYER.

"Let Justice be Done, Though the Heavens Should Fall."

Another Statement.

In justice to the memory of a man, who is represented as having been in life a brave soldier, a good companion, and a thorough gentleman, we republish the following statement of the circumstances attending the murder of Capt. Dwyer. We will only say by way of apology for again troubling our readers, that Col. White, who gave the following particulars to the Avalanche, (from whose columns we take the statement), also intended and promised to give the same to us, but was hindered from so doing by some unexplained cause:

Capt. Matt Dwyer, residing near Raleigh, came to John Lanahan's house, on Wolf river, near the bridge, about three miles north of the city, on Monday, to remain several days. Wednesday night Lanahan, who is quarrelsome when drunk, became intoxicated, and commenced abusing his wife. He struck her a blow in the presence of Capt. Dwyer, who, exasperated at the cowardly action, promptly knocked the brute down, giving him a good beating and kicking. Lanahan made no further demonstration toward his wife, and, satisfied that it would not be necessary to protect her further, Capt. Dwyer some time afterward sought his sleeping room, occupied by himself, a stepson of Lanahan's, aged sixteen, and a man whose name we have not learned.

Early yesterday morning, after adjusting his troubles with his wife, both having occupied the same room as usual, Lanahan arose, dressed himself, obtained an ax and left the house. He cut wood a short time and then returned, bringing the weapon with him. He proceeded stealthily to Dwyer's room, where the Captain and the boy were soundly sleeping. Carelessly walking to Dwyer's bed he suddenly raised the ax and dealt the unconscious victim a powerful blow. The sharp weapon was buried to the handle in the Captain's neck, nearly severing the head from the shoulders, and producing instant death. The boy, awakened by the blow, sprang out of bed, only to discover Dwyer a bloody corpse, and the bed crimsoned with gore. The man in the other bed was awake when Lanahan entered, but paid no attention to the murderer until the bloody work had been accomplished. Before recovering from the horror with which the ghastly spectacle filled him, the murderer again coolly threw the ax, still dripping with blood, over his shoulder and left the room.

He returned to his wife's apartment, carefully washed and redressed himself, putting on a clean shirt, and left the house, carelessly as though nothing had happened. The alarm was quickly raised, and some one hurried into the city for the police. Officer Sauerman was found, and in company with a couple of others, started in pursuit of the murderer. A short distance beyond Chelsea Lanahan was observed leisurely approaching, evidently with the intention of surrendering to the authorities. He was brought in and lodged in jail. He confessed having killed Dwyer, and expressed no regrets, but sought to convey the impression that Dwyer had been improperly intimate with his wife, who is quite old, and unlikely to attract any one.

Captain Dwyer served during the war as a captain in the Fifteenth Tennessee (Confederate) regiment, a portion of the time commanded by Col. Moses White, this city. He was generous, warm of [illegible] brave to rashness, and a universal favorite with all. No one who knew him ever believed him capable of dishonor, and the information that he had held illicit relations with Mrs. Lanahan is wholly gratuitous. The murder was the deliberate action of a brute in human form, brooding over merited chastisement for the infamous crime of whipping a weak, defenseless woman.

CARD OF THANKS.—I take this method of returning thanks to General N. B. Forrest, President, and the officers of PLANTERS' INSURANCE COMPANY for the prompt adjustment of my claims for losses incurred by the burning of my house, on Madison street close to Orleans, on Saturday night, May 23d.

MRS. ELLEN FORD.

THE LATE SUICIDE.

Recovery of the Body of Miss Gruper.

Coroner's Inquest.

The body of Miss Kate Gruper, the young girl who recently committed suicide, was day before yesterday recovered, and deposited in Elmwood cemetery by her relatives. Up to the present time, the causes which led this fair young creature, in the very bud—not the bloom—of youth and health, to "break the golden bowl, and sever the silver cord," remains a perfect mystery to the public. Her relatives, singularly unmindful or neglectful of her memory and fair fame, have allowed the most opprobrious suspicions and reflections to be blazoned in the public press, and to go unanswered; nor have they come forward to give any explanations whatever of the causes which led to the rash act.

It is due to her name and fame, to womanhood, to all that we hold holy in the memories of the dead, to silence forever these foul whispers; and we call upon Mr. Bachman, her uncle, to come forth and vindicate her now.

Her body was recovered under peculiar circumstances. A youth employed in Maerstadt's brewery had had his cupidity excited by the reward offered for the recovery of the body. Being of a somewhat philosophical turn of mind, he had reasoned on the subject and came to the conclusion that the corpse would rise at a certain given spot. The data which led him to this conclusion, were that a loaf of bread, laden with shot, thrown in at the point where she leaped over, after disappearing for some time, arose at that very point.

The reward of $100 stimulated him to a sleepless watchfulness, for which he was indemnified about five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, by seeing the corpse arise, almost in the very spot that he had predicted! (Adjoined to this is a little apocryphal account about hearing an explosion "like a shell bursting in the distance," etc., which we will not trouble our readers with.) The body was recovered and immediately a jury was empaneled and an inquest held. The following is the verdict rendered: "That the deceased came to her death by jumping over the bluff into the river, near Fort Pickering."

The body of the unfortunate young lady was buried immediately after its discovery.

POLICE ITEMS.

—John Dashiel and John Sewell had some difficulty, which was settled before 'Squire Griffith. On going down stairs, Dashiel dashed his heels into Sewell, and Sewell, who had already proved he could sue well, returned the compliment by having Dashiel again before the 'Squire, who fined him $2 50 and costs.

—Charlie Steele sued Green Williams for malicious trespass. 'Squire Griffith fined Williams $2 50 and costs.

—Watt Cheatham had Joseph Deering up for swapping him a stolen diamond pin for a pair of breeches—both darkies. The 'Squire sent Joseph up in default of $1000 bail.

—Judge Black yesterday put off the fornication, stealing, bigamy, adultery case until to-morrow.

—Robert Johnson is a nigger, and as such has a peculiar fondness for chicken. Bob, in order to gratify this taste, "embezzled" about six dozen fowls from Mr. Minnerath, who had him arrested and brought before 'Squire Walton, who sent Robert up in default of $2000.

—'Squire Rankin, the rankin' squire, if rankness is to be a criterion, was yesterday brought before 'Squire Hall, who, thinking his offense was rank, inasmuch as it was proven on him, sent him up to the Criminal Court on $5000 bail to answer to the charge of malfeasance in office and official corruption.

—We would respectfully call the attention of the police to the chicken coops, which are eternally on the sidewalk in front of certain stands in the city. These filthy smelling disgusting boxes lumber up the sidewalks from one day's end to another. On 294 and 296 Second street, we have especially repeatedly noticed them. Will not the police cause this nuisance to be abated?

—There were nineteen cases tried at the Adams street station, and $27 assessed in fines, yesterday.

—Thomas Nelson will be tried to-day by 'Squire Kiernan for burglary—robbing the house of Mose Piat, Esq., Chelsea.

—Annie Gallagher laid complaint before 'Squire Kiernan yesterday, that one Thomas Kernan smashed her chairs up and threatened to do the same for her. The 'Squire bound the obstreperous Thomas over.

—Sallie Deens was arrested under a warrant yesterday for stealing a light coat from Tom Kernan. Will be tried to-day.

—Gassarango, the Italian who shot at McCune, alias "Curly," was yesterday bound over to the Criminal Court—bond $2000.

There were eight arrests reported up to midnight at the Adams street station, and seven at the Causey.

THE COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT.—The complimentary benefit tendered to Mrs. Rose P. Thompson was quite a success last night. The house was full, and all, we understand, were pleased with the acting. The singing of Miss Irene Jenkins was vociferously encored. Mrs. Huckil is said to have filled the character of "Julia" very well. Little Katie Gilbert was very good as "Flora," well up in her part and excellent in the dance.

DEATH OF A HIGH MASON.—J. J. Worsham, Esq., received, yesterday afternoon, the following dispatch regarding the death of Charles A. Fuller, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee:

Fuller will be buried Sunday at three o'clock p.m. There will be a special meeting of the Grand Lodge to-morrow at four o'clock p.m. Come, and notify Officers and Brethren.

JOHN FRIZZELL.

Mr. Fuller has been, at different times, Grand Master, Grand High Priest and Grand Commander, and was one of the most distinguished Masons in Tennessee.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—We learned last night, about midnight, at the Adams street station, that as Billy Jones, brother of Sam Jones, Esq., the well-known railroad man, was sitting in the office at Humboldt, Tenn., last evening, with three other railroad men, the house was struck by lightning. They were all more or less stunned, but none of them seriously injured. We give the report for what it is worth. It is said to have been telegraphed to the Overton at six o'clock yesterday evening.

OUR OLD FRIEND John B. Gatti called upon us last night, and requested us to state that he was not the party referred to in our article of yesterday about the affray in which Curly McCune and Kinky Hayden were concerned. Mr. J. B. Gatti is an old citizen of Memphis and never gets in any scrapes.

To Travelers.—Accident Insurance can be obtained of H. P. Butler, General Agent of the original Travelers' Insurance Company, at 15 Madison street. $5000 for 25 cents per day. Long time policies at a large discount.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Weather warm and clear. The river is falling steadily. It has now receded eight inches in the past twenty-four hours, or ten feet eight inches in all. The Ohio is rising at Cincinnati and Louisville, as will be seen in our telegraphic column. The Mississippi, at St. Louis, was falling on Friday, but our next advices will no doubt report a rise. The Missouri is rising. We do not apprehend a June rise of any extent, nor is it looked for at points above. White river is falling fast, with six feet to Jacksonport. The Arkansas is also falling. The Gazette of the 3d says: "The river is still falling, with five feet water to Fort Smith, and eight feet to Napoleon. The recent treaty of peace between Gen. Sherman and the Indian tribes of the far west, is recognized in the color of the water—the brawny savages having washed the war paint from their mugs in the limpid waters of the Arkansas, changes its color here wonderfully, and from the extraordinary gyrations of the catfish."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Capt. Jas. H. Peppers' big boat was launched at Cincinnati yesterday. He has with the worst taste in the world, and utterly regardless of popularity, christened her "Thompson Dean."

The Tempest leaves for all points on White and Black rivers this morning at 9 o'clock. She leaves from the Star wharfboat.

The Bridgeport struck a snag about ten miles below Sioux City in the Missouri on Tuesday, which caused her to sink in deep water, going out of sight. The boat and cargo are a total loss. The boat was owned by Capt. R. B. Kirkpatrick, her commander, and others, of St. Louis, and was insured for $5000. An insurance of $6000 was also held on the freight list. The Bridgeport was loaded with corn and oats for Fort Buford, under Ben Johnson's contract.

The Belle St. Louis, Capt. Zeigler, leaves at 6 p.m. to-day for Cairo and St. Louis, connecting with trains for all points North and East. Ad Storm is secretary of the Belle.

The Gleaner, Capt. Blaisdell, is the U. S. mail packet for the Arkansas on Monday.

The Minneola will be in port to-day and leaves on Monday for Cincinnati.

The Dexter and Julia passed up yesterday, the former for Louisville and the latter for St. Louis. The Dexter had a splendid trip.

The United States mail packet Liberty, Capt. Jim Rice, with Milt Harry and Charley Sharpe in the office, backs out to-day for White river. It will be seen that rates of freight by this line for all points on the river have been very much reduced. The Liberty makes close connection with the railroad for Little Rock.

The good and comfortable passenger packet Rubicon, Capt. Bill Blake, will be in port early this morning, and will leave at 5 p.m. for Vicksburg and the bends, carrying the United States mail. Messrs. Alf. Grissom and Blake are her obliging clerks.

The beautiful Belle Lee will pass down for New Orleans to-day at noon. She is one of the finest steamers afloat. Capt. A. McGill commands and Adolph Martin is clerk.

The falls on the various rivers throughout Maine present wild and romantic scenes, and the large rush of logs and tremendous floods of angry waters attract many visitors.

The Chief Justice has expressed himself favorable to Government aid to build levees on the Mississippi.

The work on the great bridge over the falls of the Ohio at Louisville has been resumed, and the first pier on the south side of the canal is being arranged for the draw. The work will be pushed forward vigorously this summer.

The work on the canal around the Des Moines rapids is progressing finely. A great amount of work has already been done. A chain of rocks have already been laid along the outer edge of the canal, which extends far into the river all the way from Montrose to Keokuk, some ten miles. These rocks are now being covered with a solid embankment of earth. When this work is completed they will commence to dig the bed of the canal, which will be 300 feet wide, and deep enough to admit the largest class of steamers. Congress has appropriated $300,000 for the work. This demand is insufficient and Congress will doubtless make another appropriation, and the work will be completed in two years.

In the Supreme Court at Cincinnati, the case of King, Pennock & King vs. Thomas Dean, S. J. Hale and others, was decided in favor of defendants. We published a statement of the case some days ago, which is in brief as follows: The Lady Franklin, owned by defendants, and the Sunny Side, were lying side by side at this port. Defendants shipped seventy-three bales cotton for which the Lady Franklin gave bill lading. Only fifty-three bales were delivered to plaintiffs at Cincinnati. It came out in testimony that twenty bales had been hauled to the Sunny Side by mistake, which boat was burnt on that trip and the cotton lost. The court held that the mistake being mutual, neither party could claim advantage, and the discrepancy in the bill lading being satisfactorily explained in evidence, defendants were not liable.

Our Latest Improved
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE,
GROVESTEEN & CO.,
499 Broadway, N. Y.,
THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country, who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.
It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the finest instrument at the lowest cost. Our unspecior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other first Class House.
The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when carried to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper registers by mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the Practiced and to the most critical ear.
They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners, having their scales of carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. hep5 dawly

Trustee's Sale.
UNDER and by virtue of a Deed of Trust to me executed by Charles Fisher (colored), on the 3d day of March, 1866, and duly recorded at the register's office of Shelby county, Tennessee, in Record Book No 6, parchment, pages 108 and 109 and 110 and 111, I will, on Monday, the Eighteenth (18) of May, 1868,

Between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p.m., on the premises, sell, at public sale, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described property: A certain parcel of land situate, lying and being in the city of Memphis, the county of Shelby and State of Tennessee, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit: Being a part of Lot numbered three hundred and seventy-one (371), as designated upon the original plan of the city of the town of Memphis, which part of said lot is thus bounded: Beginning at the northeast corner of a lot formerly known as George Cromwell's; thence east with Jefferson street fifty-eight (58) feet to its intersection with Third street; thence south with Third street one hundred and forty-eight (148) feet six (6) inches to another alley; thence north with said last alley thirty-six (36) feet to the south boundary line of the Cromwell lot aforesaid; thence west with said boundary line ninety (90) feet and six (6) inches to the southeast corner of the aforesaid Cromwell lot; thence north with the said boundary line of said Cromwell lot one hundred and twelve (112) feet and six (6) inches to the said beginning—together with all the appurtenances thereunto belonging. Said Deed of Trust was executed to secure the payment of certain promissory notes to Edwin W. Lehman for the balance of the purchase money. Redemption waived. Title perfect, but sell only as Trustee.

THE NATIONAL

A new enterprise, to be known as the National Telegraph Company, has been organized with valuable franchises conferred by a recent act of Congress for the purpose of establishing Trunk Lines of Telegraphs on all the principal railroads and mail routes in the United States. The stock is to be issued upon the same principle as that of the Merchant's Union Express Company, which recently commenced operations. The design is to interest the entire business community in the enterprise. This is done, not so much to dispose of the stock as it is to secure the business of the country through which the lines pass.
The Capital is to be

$10,000,000,

In 100,000 Shares, of the par value of

$100 PER SHARE,

But the actual amount to be paid in cash is

$35 Per Share,

And this amount is to be paid as follows: One per cent. of the par at the time of subscribing, and no more, until the entire capital has been subscribed, and then on calls to be made by the Board of Directors; instalments not to exceed five per cent. per month When thirty-five per cent. of the par value of the shares has been paid, certificates of stock will be issued This will give the company a paid up

CASH CAPITAL OF $3,500,000,

Which will be sufficient to duplicate lines to all or nearly all the paying points reached by the present monopoly.
The present Telegraph Companies of the country have been consolidated into one huge monopoly, and are now earning over SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS per year, or over one hundred per cent. on the actual cost of their lines, their present capital having been watered over ONE THOUSAND per cent.
THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY have a recognition from the United States Government of the importance of their enterprise, with a grant of the most valuable franchises ever conferred upon a telegraph company. No competing line has ever had the right now granted by Congress to this company to construct and operate lines over every RAILROAD and MAIL ROUTE in the United States. The position of this company differs from that of any company ever before organized. The question of the RIGHT OF WAY IS FOREVER SETTLED.
The stockholders of this company cannot be sold out or TRANSFERRED to any other company. The act of Congress under which this company has been organized, prohibits any transfer of the franchises granted.

CALLS---HOW TO BE MADE.

One per cent. of the Stock will be required on subscribing, and subsequent calls, not to exceed five per cent. per month, will be made by the Board of Directors, from time to time, as may be necessary, to supply funds to construct and equip the lines; but no calls will be made after the one per cent is paid, until the ENTIRE CAPITAL STOCK shall have been subscribed.

ACTUAL CAPITAL REQUIRED

The Company confidently believe that thirty-five per cent. of the Capital Stock will construct and fully equip

25,000 MILES OF WIRE,

Which will connect all the commercial cente and important places in the United States This opinion rests upon the most reliable estimates and responsible offers to construct and equip the lines.
The National Telegraph Company is organized under the Laws of the State of New York and franchises conferred by an act of Congress, approved July 24, 1866.

COMPANY'S OFFICE:
Nos. 64 and 66 Broadway, N. Y.

A limited amount of the capital stock of this company is allotted to this locality, and those having an opportunity, and subscribing, will be placed upon equal terms with its corporators, and will secure like interests in all franchises which have accrued, or may hereafter accrue to the company from any and all sources.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.
BY TELEGRAPH.
Noon Dispatches.

BROWNSVILLE, June 5, 1. p.m.—The following cases were decided in the Supreme Court this morning: Bradford vs. Bostick, decision reversed; Vanderville vs. Cash, decision reversed; Bishop vs. Richardson, decision affirmed; Clark vs. Thomas, decision reversed; Ward vs. Molliter, decision affirmed; Ouly vs. Fagin, decision reversed. Pending at the time of adjournment, Miller vs. Morrow; Wright for defendant.
WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Secretary of the Treasury has decided to make no more clerical appointments.
The National Typographical Union has chosen Albany, N. Y., for their next annual meeting. They adopted a resolution against the international copyright law; also one in favor of the eight hour law in the Government workshops, and recommended a tax of ten cents on each member of the subordinate Unions for the reserve fund to aid weak Unions in any contest with unscrupulous capitalists which may occur during the ensuing year.
The excitement relative to the recent riotous proceedings has subsided. Several gangs of armed whites and blacks were dispersed during last night by the police. All is quiet to-day.
All the executive departments were closed yesterday, in respect to the memory of ex-President Buchanan.
NEW YORK, June 5.—A Herald special says that Fenian Fairs are to be gotten up at St. Albans, N. Y., for the purpose of covering up the collection of men for the coming raid into Canada.
Large numbers of arms are rapidly arriving at Malone and elsewhere, and prominent Fenians say that within the present month they will have a large force and firm footing in the dominion.
Two carloads of small arms arrived at Chautauque on the 3d, and an invasion into Canada is certain to take place by way of Burke and Chautauque.
LANCASTER, June 5.—Mr. Buchanan's funeral was the most imposing ceremony ever witnessed in this county. It extended all the way from Wheatland to Lancaster, distance of one and a half miles. Delegations from New York, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, York, Reading, Pottsville and the West, from Congress, as well as from associations benevolent, political and otherwise, walked over the route. About three thousand persons were in the procession. The Masons assisted through the ceremony, and all denominations of clergymen were at the grave. Funeral service by Rev. Dr. Nevin. Business was universally suspended, and people crowded the streets through which the cortege passed to Woodward Hill Cemetery, where his remains were deposited, according to the request of Mr. Buchanan, in a simple, unpretentious, oblong tomb, bearing the following inscription: "Here rest the remains of James Buchanan, fifteenth President of the United States; born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, April 23, 1791; died at his residence at Wheatland, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, June 1, 1868." The will of Mr. Buchanan is to be opened to-morrow. He is understood to have left a legacy to the poor of the city of Lancaster. His estate is computed at $300,000. Mr. Buchanan's last words were: "Oh, Lord Almighty, as thou willest."
MONTGOMERY, June 5.—The Democratic State Convention has adjourned, having adopted a resolution in favor of sending delegates to the National Convention. Not representing, however, any reconstructed vote in the electoral college, it is the sense of the Convention that the delegates should not be instructed in the choice of the candidates, but, having full confidence in them, leaves them untrammeled by instructions. The delegates at large are: H. J. Clanton, L. E. Parsons, Reuben Chapman and John A. Winston. District delegates were selected; also a State Committee, to whom the nomination of electoral tickets was referred. Resolutions were adopted pledging the Convention to the support of the Democratic nominee; proclaiming adherence to the ordinance abolishing slavery, and saying that the laws shall be impartially administered to both races as soon as the military is withdrawn, and we are allowed to manage our own affairs; also tendering the thanks of the Southern people to Andrew Johnson for his unflinching courage and the unsurpassed ability with which he acquitted himself of the official oath to defend the Constitution, and paying to him the respects of the Convention as a patriot and an incorruptible man.
MONTREAL, June 5.—The Fenian excitement throughout the Dominion is increasing instead of abating, and the authorities add to the fear of an impending raid by the extensive preparations they are making in this city. A flying column of one companies of regulars and two battalions of volunteers are under orders to move at a moment's notice to any point they may be ordered.
At Quebec the volunteers have been ordered to draw their requisite amount of ammunition and rations and keep themselves prepared in every particular for a campaign. A large force of British regulars is to be sent to Prescott next week, and in the meantime large quantities of ammunition and other war materials are being forwarded to that point.
LIVERPOOL, June 5.—Cotton quiet and steady. Sales to-day, 10,000 bales; uplands, 11¼d; Orleans, 11¾d. Cotton afloat, 507,000 bales; American, 94,000.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, June 5, 1868.

The money market has remained in statu quo since yesterday. Not a rifle has passed over its smooth surface to make it memorable. When in the future our active Presidents and Cashiers look back upon the field of their labors, and call to mind the many eventful days in a well recompensed career, they will vainly try to discover any stone or stake upon that area of space to mark the fate of Friday, June 5th, 1868. It died and left no sign—i. e. profits.
Exchange is scarce, with light demand—the latter rather in excess. New York is taken at par to ¼ premium, and sold at ½ premium. Checking on other Northern and Western points at ½ premium. There is nothing doing in New Orleans exchange. Rates are nominally ½ off, buying; selling at par.
Gold opened in New York at 139¾, and closed at the same figure. Dealers buy at 138 to 139¾, and sell at 140¾, with light counter demand.
City Scrip is quiet. Sellers are not to be found at less than 74 to 75c, while buyers are anxious to purchase at 72 to 73c. The market is nominally unchanged since yesterday.
In County Warrants there is no demand of a speculative kind. Holders are generally afraid to retain much on hand. We quote at 58 to 60s buying; selling at 62 to 65c, as to amount.
The production of petroleum in 1867 was about 11,000 barrels per day, while the consumption in the same year was 15 000 barrels. The best authorities estimate the present production at 9000 barrels per day.
Advices from Newfoundland state that within the past ten weeks 450,000 seals have been landed, valued at ten millions of dollars.
W. H. Russell, once a Colorado millionaire, has gone into bankruptcy. Liabilities, $1,250,000, with no assets.
Money at 2 to 3 per cent. at the same moment that the stock markets are dull and money lenders uneasy, are, says the New York World of the 1st inst., an anomaly in Wall street. Speculation is paralyzed, and money lenders are timid, both here and in Europe. The accumulation of legal money, gold in Europe and greenbacks here, is something marvelous. Three hundred millions of gold dollars are piled up in the banks of London and Paris, and one hundred millions of gold dollars, besides one hundred millions of greenback dollars, in the banks and Sub-Treasury of New York. Five hundred millions of legal money idle in London, Paris and New York! Commerce and industry are overshadowed with a gloom which "cheap money" fails to dissipate. The gigantic failures of the last two years here and in Europe—Overend, Gurney & Co., in London, the Credit Mobilier in Paris, the hurricane of the crisis of 1866 in London, paralleled by the failures of first-class merchants here—seem to have demoralized capitalists and money lenders. The commercial panic and crisis of former years are supplanted by a "dry rot," which affects the unsound branches of commerce at intervals. The confidence of money lenders has been so shaken by the unlooked-for failures of first-class firms since the rebellion, that they are ceaselessly on the search for this "dry rot" somewhere. The dry goods interest, produce dealers, Western grain speculators, China and East India merchants, have each in their turn had the "dry rot," and have made the money lenders suffer, and we have now reached the class of the great clique speculators in stocks, who are suspected by money lenders as being the next in rotation likely to suffer from this "dry rot," which has been going the rounds of every great commercial interest since the rebellion ended. Next fall is looked forward to with apprehension.
The White River Journal says: From the entire White river we have the most encouraging reports concerning the condition of the crops. There has been less cotton planted, but more corn and small grain than usual. Wheat is rapidly maturing and bids fair for a good yield, almost every field of cotton is free of weeds, and there is, as a general thing, a good stand.

The Liverpool cotton market at the opening to-day was quiet but steady; Uplands, 11¼d; Orleans, 11¾d. There was no change at noon nor at the close. Sales, 10,000 bales. Week's sales, 54,000. To speculators, 5500. For export, 4000. Stock, 618,000 bales, of which 471,000 is American. Stock afloat, 507,000, of this amount 94,000 is American.
The New York market at the opening was unchanged in every respect. Sellers firm. At noon Middlings remained firm at 31c, and at the close the market was quiet and firm, Middlings barely 31c.
This market was quiet, with only a few small sales reported. Holders are pretty firm at 29 to 30c (asking) for Middlings, while buyers offer 28 to 28½c. We quote as on yesterday:

Good Ordinary	26	@26¾
